Language Arts:

Monday we'll take a closer look at the Syrian refugee crisis by watching some videos produced by UNICEF to tell the stories of Syrian children who fled the country.

Monday and Tuesday we'll be working to pull out more details for our stories and beliefs. Your first draft is due on Wednesday and we'll be doing peer revision Wednesday and Thursday.

Wednesday - First Draft of This I Believe Essay DUE

Math:

This week we will be continuing working with the integer cards, single variable equations and inequalities and practicing for the Smarter Balanced test. Homework this week will be to finish up anything you are missing. Be sure to have the full single variable and inequality notes in your study guide - they are posted on the blog.

SCIENCE:

Monday students will receive their graded physics test over FORCE & MOTION. Students are to take the test home, share with a parent and get it signed. The signed test should be returned to school by the end of the week. (For students leaving for break early, bring the signed test back early!) In class this week we will continue learning about potential & kinetic energy, which will include conducting a lab on Tuesday. We will also learn about the Law of Conservation of Energy and how energy transforms from one type to another.

Homework:

Due Friday: signed science test

Social Studies:

We'll continue your investments this week. We'll be working on these for a while so that your investments have time to really grow and potentially change. You'll share your experience in your discussion groups on Friday. Also, you have your bills due before vacation because when we come back it will be May 2nd.
