

7TH GRADE WEEKLY OVERVIEW

Week of March 7th- March 11th

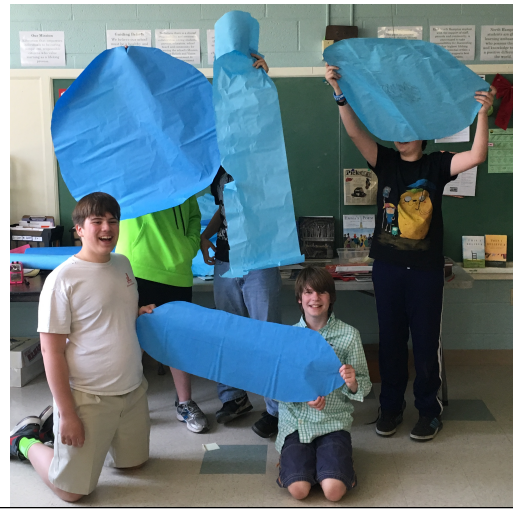

Announcements & Upcoming Events:

Thursday, May 19th- 6PM, School Board Meeting

Friday, May 20th- Semi-Formal Dance, NHS

Wednesday, May 25th- Friday, May 27th- NYC Trip

Please return NYC forms ASAP! Also, remember to please bring prescription medications to Nurse Mara this Friday, May 20th.

Language Arts:

This week we'll wrap up our This I Believe essays by finishing the essay and starting your recordings. Monday we'll practice using GarageBand to make a recording and then we'll go back to the This I Believe archives and website to learn some tips for our own recording. We'll also have some time in class this week to work on the drafts once you all have them back.

Friday- Final Draft of This I Believe DUE

Math:

This week we will wrap up linear equations by going over last week's homework and the packet. You need to know how to find the slope and the y-intercept in an equation, a graph, and a table. You also need to be able to take an equation, a graph, or a table and make the other two. If we are set with these things we can start the farm project! Homework this week will be to make corrections to your single variable quiz and to last weeks homework. These will both be due on Friday.

Quiz corrections and Homework corrections due on Friday

SCIENCE:

This week in science we will review for Thursday's test on the ENERGY UNIT. Students should use the study guide passed out last week to study a little each night this week. Students should read over their notes and look over the quizzes/review sheets.

HOMEWORK: Study at last 15 minutes each night for Thursday's test

Social Studies:

This is our final week of our investment groups. You'll be wrapping things up this week and working to finalize your gains (or losses!). Then we'll turn our attention to the SS Assessment coming up after our NYC trip.
